

Books for professionals and or adults in the family
The Little Book of Bereavement for Schools	Ian Gilbert	THE book every school should have. Details in 15 points how to support a grieving pupil in your school. Written by a father and his three children
Still Here with Me: Teenagers and Children on Losing a Parent	Suzanne Sjoqvist, Margaret Myers	A collection of autobiographical accounts written by young people about their grief. Could also be given to a young person to read.
Grief in Children: A handbook for Adults	Atle Dyregrov	An accessible guide full of practical advice and suggestions for supporting children.
Children and Grief: When a parent dies	William J Worden	A good theoretical book detailing children's and young people's grief.
You Just Don't Understand	Winston's Wish	A guidebook for parents and professionals focusing on supporting teenagers to manage their grief.
A Child's Grief	Winston's Wish	A guidebook for parents and professionals on explaining death to children and helping them manage their grief.
Beyond the Rough Rock	Winston's Wish	A guidebook for parents and professionals supporting a child bereaved by suicide.
Hope Beyond the Headlines	Winston's Wish	A guidebook for parents and professionals supporting a child bereaved by murder or manslaughter.
As Big as it Gets	Winston's Wish	A guidebook for parents and professionals supporting a child when someone is seriously ill.
Never The Same: Coming to Terms with the Death of a Parent	Donna Schuurman	An excellent book to support those who experienced the death of a parent as a child. Useful for professionals to increase understanding of the needs of grieving pupils.
Information / workbooks for young people
The Grieving Teen	Helen Fitzgerald	A lengthy but very informative book for a young person, divided into the issues they are facing and how they can manage them.
Straight talk about death for Teenagers	Earl A.Grollman	An accessible book with short pieces of text talking directly with death and grief.

What on earth do you do when someone dies?	Trevor Romain	An easier book for pupils providing reassurance about feelings.
When a Friend Dies	Marilyn E Gootman	Very useful for young people- contains short statements which explore the feelings of grief when a young person loses their friend.
Out of the blue: making memories last when someone has died	Winston's Wish	A selection of activities for young people to do when wanting to remember someone who has died.
Grief Encounter	Shelley Gilbert	A workbook with many accessible activities (maybe more for key stage 3) to encourage conversations about loss between children and adults. A useful 'grown ups' section too!
Healing your Grieving Heart A journal for Teens	Alan D Wolfelt	A journal for a young person to complete giving gentle guidance, prompts and ideas to write about.
Healing your Grieving Heart for Teens 100 practical ideas	Alan D Wolfelt	A collection of ideas to facilitate young people to express and manage their grief.
There is also a vast selection of fiction featuring bereavement as a theme which some grieving pupils may find useful to read.

Websites for young people:

www.hopeagain.org.uk
www.help2makesense.org

by bereaved young people for bereaved young people Winston's Wish young people's site

www.childbereavementuk.org www.winstonswish.org.uk
www.griefencounter.org.uk
www.slideaway.org.uk

all have sections with information and activities for young people

www.muchloved.com
www.gonetoosoon.org

websites that enables young people to build their own tribute web page in memory of someone

www.riprap.org.uk

a website for young people when their parent has cancer